Reunion Luncheon In N. Y. C.

Shortly before they took train for Fall River, Mrs. Alice Chace and her son, Jimmy, 2½, were pictured at luncheon in New York... which followed their reunion in New York Foundling Hospital. The institution had taken care of Jimmy since he was found wandering in a subway last January. Fall River police located the boy after Arlene Underwood, 18, was arrested on a kidnap charge.

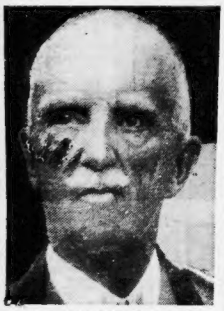
King Will Quit As Rome Falls

By LYNN HEINZERLING

NAPLES, April 12 (AP)—Tired and bereft of empire, King Victor Emmanuel III proclaimed to his people and the world today he would turn over the power of the throne to his six-foot son Umberto, 39, the Prince of Piedmont, on the day Allied troops enter Rome.



KING VICTOR EMMANUEL

CROWN PRINCE UMBERTO

The 74-year-old monarch declared he would appoint his son "lieutenant-general of the realm," would retire entirely from public affairs, and that his decision was "final and irrevocable."

Thus Victor Emmanuel, whose 43-year reign is the longest since that of Queen Victoria of Britain, yielded provisionally to the pressure of Italian Liberal leaders who have refused to form a democratic government in Italy while he remained on the throne.

"The day will come," said the King, whom Mussolini so long eclipsed, "when our deep wounds will be healed and we shall take once more our place as a free people mong free nations."

ALLIED APPROVAL SEEN

The announcement came a day after representatives of the Allied governments had closed a two-day conference in a southern Italian town where the King has a villa.

(The fact that the King's statement so closely followed the Allied representatives' conference suggested that Victor Emmanuel took his action with Allied approval.)

An official spokesman at the seat of the government of Marshal Badoglio said the King's statement, which was broadcast to the Italian people early this afternoon, was "a spontaneous announcement by his Majesty," who "decided to make the statement at this time in order to eliminate any obstacle that might still exist in the efforts by various political parties to reach full cooperation with the Italian government.

"The King's statement is directed to all parties without exception in behalf of the effort of the entire nation to achieve true national unity."

DECIDES TO WITHDRAW

Text of the King's announcement:

"The Italian people know that I have always been at their side in difficult times and in happy ones. They know that eight months ago I put an end to the Fascist regime and brought Italy, notwithstanding every danger and risk, to the side of the United Nations in a struggle for liberation against Nazism.

"The Italian navy, air force and army have been obedient to my call during the past eight months and have been fighting undauntedly against the enemy shoulder to shoulder with the Allied forces.

"The Italian contribution to victory is and shall ever be more great. The day shall come when our deep wounds will be healed and we shall take once more our place as a free people among free nations.

"Putting into effect what I have suggested to Allied authorities and to my government, I have decided to withdraw from public affairs by appointing my son, the Prince of Piedmont, lieutenant-general of the realm.

"This appointment will become effective by formal transfer of power on the day on which Allied troops enter Rome.

"This decision would, I firmly believe, further national unity. It is final and irrevocable."

K.O. Raids In 5th Day

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—RAF heavy bombers smashed at Aachen, Hannover and other objectives in western Germany last night and daylight raiders roared over the Continent today to carry the onslaught into its fifth straight day.

British airmen, following yesterday's assaults on Germany by nearly 2000 American heavy bombers and fighters which fought fierce sky battles, braved bright moonlight in returning to the Reich.

Last night's attack was carried out with a loss of nine planes.

The air ministry described the blow at Aachen, vital rail link between Germany, Belgium and northern France, as heavy.

Fresh waves of Allied planes, meanwhile, were seen winging their way across the English channel toward Europe in mid-morning.

Sixty-four American bombers and 16 escorting fighters failed to return from yesterday's blows at plane factories in Oschersleben and Bernburg and at industrial targets in Rostock and Arnimswalde, near Stetton, a U. S. communique said.

The wild battles that streaked the sky with flame even over neutral Sweden cost the Germans 126 planes and at least 58 more were wrecked on the ground. Another Nazi plane was downed by the Swedes, a Swedish communique said.

Nine flying giants were forced down in Sweden and a Swedish communique said the crews of all were safe, with the exception of one airman who was dead when his plane landed. Three more heavy bombers were reported to have landed in Denmark.

BULLETIN

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Heavy bombers of the U. S. 15th Air Force, operating from Italy, attacked Messerschmitt plane factories at Wiener Neustadt, near Vienna, today.

Japs Hurled Back in Burma

NEW DELHI, April 12 (AP)—The Chinese 38th Division, pushing southward along the Mogaung valley in northern Burma, has occupied Tingring after a swift advance from captured Wakawng and Allied forces also have thrust across the Panglu river west of the latter village, Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced today.

The bulletin added that Chinese troops had wiped out a Japanese pocket south of Hpaduyang and west of the Mogaung river.

Little change was reported in the situation around Imphal, Indian communications center toward which the Japanese have been thrusting in three directions, but the communique acknowledged the enemy had occupied a small hill northeast of the Imphal plain.

The Tokyo radio declared today that three Japanese columns were closing in on Imphal.

Nazis Claim F. D. To Meet Churchill

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—A German radio station, which claims it broadcasts from somewhere in Great Britain, said today President Roosevelt had gone to the Caribbean to meet Prime Minister Churchill and make plans "regarding operations in Europe during the coming weeks."

The text of the broadcast, heard by the ministry of information:

"Roosevelt has left Washington for the Caribbean, where he is to make last-minute plans with Churchill regarding operations in Europe during the coming weeks. It is significant once again that Churchill is the one to cross the Atlantic and not Roosevelt, who has not paid even a courtesy visit to this country throughout the whole war."

The report was wholly without Allied confirmation. It was announced early in the week in Washington that President Roosevelt had gone South for a vacation.

You Figure It

WATERBURY, Ct., April 12 (AP)—The Waterbury American attempts to answer all queries directed to it but, it admitted, it was stumped by this one:

"Will the invasion be on Eastern War or Eastern Standard Time?"

Nazis Fleeing Crimea, Berlin Officially Admits

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—The German communique today told of fresh retreats in the eastern and northern Crimea, where "German and Rumanian troops disengaged themselves in hard fighting toward positions further south."

Some 250 miles to the northwest, the Russians said they had fought into the streets of Tiraspol, Dnestr river port and rail junction, while on the middle Dnestr, the Germans crashed through the Russian cordon around remnants of 15 trapped divisions around Skala.

The Russian communique told of concerted drives in the Crimea from the east and north. An army commanded by Gen. Yeremenko captured Kerch in the east and swept 19 miles westward, overrunning 40 settlements. The Fourth Ukrainian army in the north beat past the northern rail bottleneck of Dzhankoi, 85 miles north of Sevastopol and seized 50 more towns.

NAZIS ADMIT KERCH LOST

The Germans asserted they destroyed a large number of tanks in their retreats in the Crimea yesterday and that hard fighting continued on both fronts. The loss of Kerch was acknowledged after destruction of the harbor and military installations.

The Germans said "violent enemy attacks" were repulsed at Ovidiopol on the Dnestr estuary, toward which the routed garrison of Odessa was being herded. There the Germans said 20 tanks were destroyed.

Other major battles were said by the Germans to be in progress in Romania northeast of Iasi (Jassy), around Kowel in old Poland and southeast of Ostrov.

With but one exception Soviet arms were victorious all along the 500-mile-long front extending from the Crimea to the old Czech frontier, a Russian communique declared.

CENTRAL ROMANIA HIT

This was west of Skala above the middle Dnestr, where a German force cracked a Russian cordon thrown around the remnants of 15 Nazi divisions trapped in that area.

Marshal Konev's Second Ukranian Army, meanwhile, was reported to have struck hard at Axis forces in central Romania, storming the important rail junction of Pascani, 55 miles west of the Prut river, and Cristesti, eight miles beyond. Pascani, 125 miles northeast of the rich Ploesti oil fields, surrendered after 3000 German and Romanian troops were slain.

Nazi Cassino Attack Fails

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 12 (AP)—The Germans launched a small attack against Allied troops defending the hills north of Cassino yesterday and stepped up the tempo of their shelling of Castle Hill just behind the rubbled town, but the attack was thrown back and Allied guns answered the barrage with sharp fire of their own, headquarters announced today.

German shelling of the area south of Cassino was on a reduced scale and normal patrolling activity was resumed there as on all sectors of the Italian front.

On the Anzio beachhead, a small enemy party attempted a minor thrust three miles southwest of Carroceto and two other parties tried to cross the Moletta river near the coast, but all these thrusts were repulsed.

German guns continued to shell the rear and port areas of the beachhead.

Allied planes flew about 1100 sorties yesterday, blasting railyards at Siena and Ancona, and smashing at bridges, supply dumps, rail stations and motor transport on a wide area in Italy and lashing at shipping off the Dalmatian coast. One Allied plane was lost.

Yanks' Score

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—American bombers and fighters in this theater have shot 352 German planes out of the skies in the last four days, official announcement showed today.

This brought to 2611 the announced total of enemy planes destroyed in the air since Jan. 1 by Britain-based American airmen. Additional hundreds have been destroyed aground and others smashed in aircraft factories before they could be taken off production lines.

Yanks Take 6-1 Toll of Japs

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 12 (AP)—Naval and aerial pounding of Japanese installations on the north coast of New Guinea was reported by Gen. MacArthur today as official figures showed the enemy lost at least six men for each American in the fight for the wetsern half of neighboring New Britain.

U. S. destroyers with a fighter escort steamed boldly into Hansa bay Monday and hurled shells into the enemy's shore installations while heavy bombers poured 227 tons of explosives on the base, which was left under a pall of smoke.

The attacking force then turned south to give Madang and its adjacent Alexishafen airbase the same treatment. No air or sea opposition was encountered, but one bomber was lost to anti-aircraft fire.

A MacArthur spokesman said the Japanese had been cleared from western New Britain at a cost of 1514 American casualties: 442 dead, 1062 wounded, 10 missing.

These figures contrasted with Gen. MacArthur's estimate that the Japanese have lost 4911 dead and prisoners plus at least that many more from wounds, starvation and disease. The enemy force of about 40,000 is in full retreat oward Rabaul.

Bares Housing Black Market

By STANLEY CHIPMAN and DONALD MacPHAIL

Greater Boston and its environs are in the grip of a black market in housing, with innumerable tenants willingly paying over-the-ceiling rentals in order to find homes, William F. Riley, acting OPA rent control director for Eastern Massachusetts, charged today.

Riley's jurisdictional area has a population of 3,000,000 although his staff comprises only 60 persons, including investigators.

"We know the black market exists in our area," Riley said. "We know many landlords have failed to register with us property they are renting—and we know these landlords are charging more than the maximum legal rent.

"Our investigators are running them down," he added, "but many tenants are so willing to beat the housing shortage by joining the landlord in breaking the law and paying him more than the ceiling, it is difficult to discover a lot of the guilty ones."

FACE HEAVY PENALTY

"We can only proceed against their landlords," he added. "If a landlord ignores an order to register his property with us, he is liable to fines up to $5000, or one year's imprisonment, or both. But the unpatriotic tenant, whose silence abets the property owner, is often equally to blame."

Riley urged house hunters to demand landlords show them a copy of the registration statement which they are required to file with the OPA rent control division. Therein, he said, the maximum legal rent is shown. This is the rent as of March 1, 1942.

In order to smash the black market in housing, OPA must have public co-operation, Riley stated. He cited a case:

An Arlington housewife asked the landlord to paint her apartment. He refused. She and her husband painted it. Next rent day she sent the landlord a check for $35, her regular rental, but she expected to be reimbursed for the painting. The landlord didn't do so

SEES FORMER TENANT

Now indignant, the woman looked up the tenant who had occupied the apartment before and discovered the rental had been $30 a month. Theoretically, it had been frozen at that figure—but the landlord was getting $35.

The tenant obtained the former tenant's statement in writing. The rent control division yesterday notified the landlord to come in for a hearing. If the case against him is proved, he will be compelled to return all rent received in excess of the ceiling.

Landlords are not always guilty as charged by resentful tenants, he added. "We receive thousands of groundless complaints, spite complaints," Riley explained.

"Sometimes, we find the landlord could legally ask a higher rental than he is getting. Under certain conditions, such as marked improvements to property, we allow increases in rent."

1 in 15 Admits Lottery Guilt

One out of 15 defendants rounded up by state troopers and local police in an alleged $1,000,000 U. S. Treasury balance lottery pleaded guilty during arraignments in eight courts.

Among those taken in the wide-sweeping net were Jeremiah F. Murphy, 55, of Birch rd., Winthrop, described by authorities as boss of the Banner Lottery, and Peter Coughlin of High st., Medford, declared by Middlesex Dist. Atty. Bradford to own the Bay State Lottery.

Bradford said an estimated 30,000 persons played these two pools each week, paying 25 or 50 cents for numbered tickets in hopes of winning prizes ranging from $1 to $2000.

The only guilty admission was made by Chester Sears, 41, of St. James rd., Medford, when arraigned in Malden court on a charge of setting up and promoting a lottery.

PAYS $200 FINE

Sears paid $200 fine and went his way.

In the same court, Coughlin pleaded not guilty to the same charge and was held in $1000 for a hearing April 26.

At Chelsea court, Bernard Magnus, 33, of Chester ave., Chelsea, first pleaded guilty to that charge, but when state police obtained a continuance, Magnus asked and received permissio nto change his plea to not guilty.

He was held in $1000 for a hearing April 28, as was John Tuccione, 42, Prospect ave., Revere, likewise charged with setting up and promoting a lottery.

In Waltham court, George Poirier, 23, Myrtle st., Waltham, pleaded not guilty to setting up and promoting a lottery and conspiracy with Murphy, and was held in $1000 until the 26th.

3 ARRAIGNED IN MARLBORO

Three defendants were arraigned in Marlboro court, all charged with the two offenses, all pleading not guilty and all held in $1000 until the 26th. They were Rocco Corrinne, 38, ..eal st., Marlboro; William L. O'Brien, 66, Winter st., Hudson, and Francis H. Gillis, 52, Arlington st., Hudson.

Jeremiah Murphy Mrs. M. Mascari

Framingham court had two defendants on the two charges, William L. Waugh, 61, Concord st., Framingham, and Charles Wendell, 78, of Framingham. They were held in $1000 until the 26th.

Joseph F. Geary, 37, Loring ave., Salem, pleaded not guilty in Salem court to setting up and promoting a lottery and was held in $1000 until May 12.

In East Cambridge Court, Frank W. Fitzpatrick, 51, Massachusetts ave., Arlington, pleaded innocent to the two charges and was held in $1000 until April 26, while in Somerville Court, on the same charges, Gilbert Perkins, 25, Quincy st., Somerville, was held in $1000 until April 21 after a not guilty plea.

Still to be arraigned, in Boston Municipal Court, were Murphy and Mrs. Marilyn Mascari, Stanford st., West End.

Higher Prices Seen For Postwar Period

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—The brave new postwar world—in which automobiles, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators once more will pour from the vactories—is going to cost more than in ante-bellum 1941

Sixty-nine per cent of the executives interviewed by Modern Industry, a magazine for industrial managers, figured prices would increase an average of 18 per cent

Cigarettes—5 to 10 per cent higher.

Household hardware—10 to 20 per cent higher.

Heating equipment—5 to 20 per cent higher, dropping to 10 per cent higher.

Radios—Somewhat higher; no agreement as to how much.

Ranges, electric—20 to 30 per cent higher, dropping to 15 per cent higher.

Refrigerators, electric—18 to 25 per cent higher, dropping to 12 to 15 per cent higher.

Democrats Push Vets' Bonus for Showdown

Democratic members of the State Legislature prepared to launch a show-down fight today to upset the recommendation of the Republican dominated military affairs committee, which voted 11 to 4 on strictly party lines, to postpone action on the veterans' bonus and hospitalization bills until the next session.

The real fight is scheduled in the House, where Democrats, confronted with almost certain defeat of a general $300 bonus, were reported readying a graded bonus measure which would pay sums ranging from $100 to veterans serving in this country to a maximum of $300 for overseas veterans.

FAVOR MORE STUDY

The joint military affairs committee recommended that the bonus and increased hospitalization proposals be returned to the Postwar Rehabilitation Commission for further study.

An attempt by Sen. Robert L. Lee of Charlestown to amend this report to permit construction of a 200-bed wing to the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea was defeated in the Senate after an 85-minute debate by a 16 to 12 vote, with only two Republicans, Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge and J. Frank Hughes of Danvers, favoring Lee's measure.

BLOCK SECOND TRY

At the same time the House blocked a second attempt to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 by rejecting, 115 to 87, a motion to suspend the rules to consider calling a constitutional convention for that purpose.

In presenting his amendment, Lee said that the state mental hospital had been reported by Dr Clifton T. Perkins, head of the state department of mental hea th to be "18 to 40-per cent overtaxed."

Kelly Enters Governor Race

Former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly today announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in the July 11 primaries.

Francis E. Kelly

He is the second avowed candidate, the other being State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley.

In his announcement Kelly said he favored a soldier bonus for Massachusetts men which would be financed by a state-supervised lottery. He contended the present "Republican-controlled Legislature is doing everything to prevent a bonus being paid to discharged service men."

Kelly was rejected for service with the armed forces because of physical disability, an old football injury.

Two years ago, Kelly lost the Democratic nomination to Roger L. Putnam of Springfield. Putnam was defeated in the election by Governor Saltonstall.

Kelly, an attorney, is 41. He served as a city councillor and was finance commissioner of Fall River. He was lieutenant governor in 1937-1938.

Camacho's Assailant Reported Dying

MEXICO CITY, April 12 (INS)—Little hope was held out today for the recovery of President Camacho's would-be assassin, who was seriously wounded while fleeing from his guards.

Lieut. Antonio de la Lama, 32-year-old army officer identified as the confessed assailant, was in the Central Military Hospital in a dying condition.

Gen. MacArthur, Stassen Win

By the Associated Press

Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Lieut. Comdr Harold E. Stassen emerged with demonstrated midwestern popularity in the Republican presidential race today, but a record-smashing write-in vote in Nebraska showed New York's Gov. Dewey strong, too.

With his name and that of Wendell L. Willkie on the ballot, Stassen, from 1290 of the state's 2031 precincts, had 33,577 votes to 14,120 for Dewey, Willkie, who quit after failing to obtain a delegate in Wisconsin last week, trailed with 4961.

Dewey got all of his votes the hard way—they had to be pencilled in on the ballot. His showing led Ira Beynon, Nebraska national committeeman, to predict a first ballot nomination at the Chicago convention for the New Yorker.

MacArthur, who has been even more silent than Dewey about his prospective candidacy, emerged with a smashing demonstration of strength in the Illinois Republican primary. In 7308 of the State's 8728 precincts he had 438,592 votes to 30,043 for Riley Bender, Chicago real estate man.

The Republican vote total in both Nebraska and Illinois was far ahead of the Democratic where it was a no contest most of the way.

5000 on Strike at Wontgomery Ward's

CHICAGO, April 12 (INS)—A strike among 5000 employes of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s mail order and retail departments was called today by the United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employes Union, CIO.

Henry B. Anderson, president of Local 20, said the strike was meant to protest the company's refusal to put into effect two War Labor Board orders directing the company to extend the contract that expired Dec. 8.

More Quakes Visioned in N. H.

CENTER OSSIPEE, N. H., April 12—Familiar with the ways of earthquakes, residents of this frequently shaken quake epicenter voiced the opinion today that additional tremblings of the ground may be felt this spring as a result of a shock felt here for 20 seconds.

Dishes rattled on shelves as houses shook, but no damage or personal injuries were reported. The tremors were not recorded on either the Harvard University or Weston College seismographs.

Son of Ex-President Of Mexico Is Missing

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—Staff Sergt. Abelardo Rodriguez, 22, son of a former president of Mexico, is missing in action after a U. S. Eighth Air Force bombing raid on Aschersleben, Germany, it was announced today.

Rodriguez was a radio operator and gunner on a heavy bomber. Crews who returned from the raid Feb. 22, in which 41 U. S. planes were lost, said his plane fell out of formation. He entered the Army at Los Angeles July 7, 1942.

Navy Asks 30 Billions To Whip Jap Empire

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The largest naval appropriation bill in American history went to the House floor today to help the world's greatest fleet win the war on the seven seas.

It carried $32,647,134,336 for naval activities during the 12 months starting next July 1, a figure which, if approved by Congress, will boost to approximately $350,000,000,000 the obligations voted for the total war effort since July 1, 1940.

The program which the new funds will help finance contemplates the use of 6623 self-propelled vessels, 74,925 non-self-propelled vessels, 19,035 naval planes exclusive of thousands of training planes, and 3657,467 sailors, marines and coast guardsmen.

"Whatever the cost, we know the Japanese well enough to realize that we cannot regard victory in the Pacific as anything short of the destruction of the Japanese empire," the appropriations committee had been told by Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

"It is no secret that Tokyo is the ultimate objective of all our operations."

The job of getting there, he added, will not be "easy."

"The distances that are facing us for the future are even greater than those already traveled, he said. "We still have a very long way to go to win the war in the Pacific. . . . The casualties that are going to have to be taken into the hospitals are going to increase and probably increase very markedly in the next six months, and they will stay at a high rate."

The two major items in the bill were $8,200,640,000 for naval aviation and $7,800,000,000 for increase and replacement of naval vessels. These amounts, the committee said, are required for the procurement and operation of 24,230 modern airplanes, 807 combat vessels and 30,151 ships of other categories, "by far the greater percentage of which," the committee was told, are landing craft.

Vander Wyk to Plead IN Superior Court

WOBURN, April 12 (AP)—Judge William H. Henchey today dismissed a manslaughter complaint against Henry D. Vander Wyk, Winchester oil salesman, when informed the defendant had been indicted by a Middlesex County grand jury on a similar charge in the death of his wife, Rena, March 18.

Vander Wyk, whose bail has been set at $15,000 is scheduled to appear in superior court to answer the grand jury indictment.

Paper in Milwaukee Aim of McCormick

CHICAGO, April 12 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune in a news story today noted "the repudiation of endorsement of Wendell Willkie by Wisconsin newspapers," and said it had applied to the War Production Board (WPB) for newsprint necessary to start a new morning newspaper in Milwaukee.

"Willkie, who failed to win a delegate to support him, although he was the only candidate to campaign the state, was backed by the Milwaukee Journal, the Wisconsin State Journal in Madison and the Sheboygan Press," the Tribune said.

The Tribune, one of the two Chicago morning newspapers, also said that in the recent Wisconsin primary campaign Willkie "campaigned against a newspaper, the Tribune. The issue in Wisconsi was Tribune policies against Willkie policies. The people of Wisconsin voted for Americanism and against foreignism."

W. R. HEARST'S COMMENT

In Milwaukee, which has two newspapers, the Sentinel, morning and Sunday morning, and the Journal, afternoon and Sunday morning, no immediate comment was given, but in McCloud, Cal., a statement was issued by the Sentinel's owner, William Randolph Hearst. He said:

"It seems to me that the Milwaukee Sentinel, published in Milwaukee and having the larger morning circulation in the State and campaigning for Dewey, did commendably effective work in the recent Wisconsin primaries.

"But of course I do not wish to disparage the good work done by the Chicago Tribune and also by the Chicago Herald-American.

"Doubtless the Chicago Tribune deserves more print paper, but so do all the newspapers."

TIP TO COL. McCORMICK

The Tribune's plan to start a new paper in Milwaukee brought comments from Charles E. Broughton, editor of the Sheboygan Press, and William T. Evjue, editor of the Madison Capital Times:

"If the Tribune wants to spend its money in Milwaukee, that city is the finest place in the world to spend it," said Broughton. "Wisconsin has the finest newspapers in the country for a State its size and Col. McCormick (Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Tribune) will find out in competition with the Milwaukee Sentinel and the Milwaukee Journal that the field is well covered.

"From the viewpoint of good clean curnalism, both Milwaukee and the state are well taken care of and no improvement could be made through the Tribune's influence."

Thrifty Vermont Views War

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Consider a 20-foot wide highway, paved with dollar bills and stretching around the globe more than 13 times and, according to Rep. Plumley, R. of Vermont, you will have a good idea of the cost of the war to the United States.

Plumley made the observation during hearings on the Navy appropriation bill reported to the House today. For round figures he used $300,000,000,000.

Reduced to one dollar bills and laid side by side and end to end, Plumley said, that amount would "go 317,187 miles, or 13 and seven twenty-fifths times around the globe in a highway running 20 feet wide."

The calculation, he explained, was made by "a friend in the Navy" at the request of "a thrifty citizen of Vermont."

The "thrifty citizen's" reaction, he added, was:

"But somebody has to pick it all up."

Still No Trace of India Co-ed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Snow, driven by a hard wind, swirled through the early morning blackness of Riverside drive as Valsa Matthai, daughter of India, stepped from an elevator of Columbia University's International House and disappeared.

It was as though the earth swallowed the 21-year-old student. It was on March 20, and the sleepy-eyed elevator operator who was the last person known to have seen her could not even say whether she had left the building.

Time and a nation-wide search by police, federal men and private investigators have turned up not a single clue.

Valsa Matthai

Although educated in the western world the girl usually wore her native costume.

"She was an excellent student," a member of the university's business school faculty said, and "everyone thought she was fascinating, with her dark skin and eyes. She spoke beautiful English."

Oddly, Valsa, when she disappeared, was wearing dark gray flannel slacks and a typically American tan polo coat. On the bureau was her brown leather purse, holding identification cards and $17 in cash.

Her bank account showed a $1400 balance, and police estimated she had only small change with her when she dropped from sight. Her bed had not been slept in.

Acting Capt. John J. Cronin of the missing persons bureau said he had virtually eliminated the theories of kidnaping and amnesia. He also discounted the idea that Indian politics had played any part in the disappearance.

He said he did not eliminate the chance she had gone for an early walk and been assaulted, or that she was the victim of an automobile accident.

"But I lean towards suicide," he added. "She didn't make a confidante of anyone; she didn't even make plans to see her friends the next day. I think more of the signs—taking no money, just walking out—point toward that."

More Heard As Snow White

Auditions in the "Princess Snow White" $1000 prize contest continued for the third successive day in the Yankee Network studios, Brookline ave., Back Bay, today, where 28 out of almost 800 girls given voice tests already have been selected to compete in tomorrow night's finals.

More Butter, Oils Less Margarine

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Civilian supplies of butter, shortening, cooking oils and salad oils will be slightly larger during the April-June quarter than in the first quarter of the year.

The War Food Administration, in announcing allocations, said civilian supplies of margarine, on the other hand, will be slightly smaller, while supplies of lard will be the same as originally allocated for the January-March quarter.

The WFA said since butter now is being produced in larger quantities, the margarine allocation has been reduced to conserve vegetable oils for future needs when butter production drops off again.

'Miss Arsenal of '44' To Be Picked Friday

"Miss Arsenal of 1944" will be chosen at the spring dance, sponsored by the employes of Watertown Arsenal, Friday night at Hotel Kenmore.

Members of the committee include Eugene Sweeney, Samuel Siccho and Fred Newman.

A Boy 'PW'

PASADENA, Cal., April 12 (AP)—Six radio police cars and as many motorcycle patrolmen sped away to capture Irving "Porky" Wade, 16-year-old high school youth who was delivering eggs.

Surrounded, the youth stoutly protested to the officers: "Look! My nickname is 'Porky'—'Porky' Wade. See?"

Even so, the police suggested it would be well if he'd paint out the initials "P. W." stencilled on the back of his jacket because someone thought he was an escaped prisoner of war.

NEW "VEST POCKET" FURNACE (IN CIRCLE)

Reads Like a Dream

Vest Pocket Home Furnace a Wow

By RICHARD TOMPKINS

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—A "vest pocket" furnace that can be hung from a rafter in the attic and will generate enough energy to heat a 10-room house now awaits its turn on the postwar assembly line.

The heater, of which there are several types, is another example of how the necessities of war have stimulated engineering progress toward the comforts of future homes.

In war, it has been used to dry soldiers' laundry, to heat hospital tents, to dry parachutes, to say nothing of perhaps its most important use now—de-icing airplane wings. As to future possibilities—

Imagine an arrangement in which a clock mechanism might turn on the heater in your car during the breakfast hour so that when you go to the garage you will find a warm car even before the engine is started. You may not even need a garage; just a roof over the car to keep the snow off. The heater will prevent freezing.

What about the future of yachts and other small craft when the same principle of heating now used in PT boats will be applied?

And when winter comes, instead of shoveling snow off the sidewalk, just turn on the heater and watch it melt away. And there is the possibility of de-icing streets, saving thousands of dollars in snow removal.

The basic principles of design for the heater have been thoroughly established, Lynn A. Williams, Jr., vice-president of the Stewart-Warner Corp., explains.

For illustration, take the "vest pocket" gasoline-burning edition that weighs 20 pounds and is 10 inches in diameter and 15 inches long—about the size of an office wastebasket.

The heater uses the spiral accelerating flow design, is hermetically sealed and has a small combustion chamber. Made of a stainless steel alloy, this heater, Williams says, is sufficient in most climates for a 10-room house.

The engineers do not regard gasoline as a good fuel for household use but believe the principles they have developed are applicable to the burning of fuel oil, or manufactured or natural gas.

"The gasoline or fuel oil would be fed automatically to the heater from a supply tank buried in the cellar or lawn. If a smaller heater is used, Williams foresees a fuel cnotainer attached to the unit which could thus make the heater portable."

One of the possibilities for homes, Williams points out, is the use of one small heater for each room. He says it is possible to make a heater eight inches in diameter and nine inches high, having its own fan and blower, all complete as one unit. Each heater can be provided with its own thermostat, so that each room can be kept at the most desirable temperature.

With this smaller heater, the engineers conceive that it might be recessed in the wall or in the interspace under the floor or in the ceiling. They also conceive of supplying heating with such units at $20 to $30 a room, assuming prewar price levels.

Civilians Warned Not To Touch 'Dud' Bombs

If you find a "dud" bomb, shell or flare on the beach of in the woods while vacationing—don't touch it!

That warning was issued today by Maj.-Gen. Sherman Miles, commanding general of First Service Command, and Rear Admiral Robert A. Theobald, First Naval District commandant. They urged civilians to leave unexploded missiles where they find them and notify the nearest police or Coast Guard station immediately.

Find Meat Danger

Taking new issue with the OPA, state and city health officials today reported a "tremendous increase" in the amount of spoiled meats found recently in Boston and throughout the state.

Dr. Vlado A. Getting, state health commissioner, striking back at an OPA announcement which termed "misleading" a report that 30,863 pounds of bad meats were seized in Massachusetts last year, termed the statistics "only a sample of true conditions."

The figures on meat spoilage in the state were announced in a St. Louis speech by Hermann C. Lythgoe, director of the food and drug division of Dr. Getting's department.

"I think that the situation in any one city in Massachusetts, for instance, might be repeated in any other city," the State health head declared. "We have a dangerous situation when marketmen, anxious to make up points, try to sell meat that is not fit for human consumption."

Dr. G. Lynde Gately, city health commissioner, reported today that his inspectors have discovered "tremendous increases" in meat spoilage in Boston in the last few months. He blamed improper refrigeration.

The city health head disclosed that to date this year 2215 pounds of poultry have been seized in Boston as compared with 525 pounds for the corresponding period a year ago; 1626 pounds of pork as against 454 last year, and 88 pounds of lamb as compared to 60 in 1943.

American Indian Wins Honor Medal

NAPLES, April 12 (AP)—Second Lieut. Ernest Childers, an American Indian from Broken Arrow, Okla., today received the Congressional Medal of Honor for a gallant, single-handed fight against the Germans last September while injured.

The blue-ribboned medal was placed around Childers' neck by Lieut.-Gen. Jacob L. Devers, deputy commander-in-chief and commander of American forces in the Mediterranean theater, at a ceremony at a near-by race track before a massing of the troops.

Childers received the second Congressional Medal of Honor to be awarded in the Italian campaign, the first going to Tech. Sergt. Charles E. ("Commando") Kelly of Pittsburgh, on March 11.

Shipyard Coffee Revolt Spreading

NEW YORK, April 12 (INS)—Union officials predicted today that the "coffee" rebellion of shipyard workers would spread to all Bethlehem Steel Co. plants unless company officials rescind their order abolishing the 15-minute rest periods.

More than 2500 workers at Bethlehem's Brooklyn plant last night joined nearly 5000 workers at the Hoboken yard, all protesting that their traditional time for a cup of coffee had been taken away.

Or so the men said, but union officials said it was actually milk the milk wanted, not coffee. They need the nourishing qualities of milk after a day's work in the yards, they said.

Twin Grief

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Baby boys about one day old and believed to be twins were found abandoned today in the vestibule of an apartment building in the Washington Heights district. They were taken to the New York Foundling Hospital.

New Board to Aid In Under-26 Draft

High-ranking Army and Navy officers and government officials will advise New England draft directors as they carry out the Washington decree, to concentrate on the prompt induction of all available men under 26 into the armed forces, it was announced today.

Disclosure of the forming of an advisory committee to help determine which war workers under 26 should continue to be deferred, or should be drafted, was made when Brig.-Gen. Guy H. Drewry, chief of the Springfield Ordnance District, was designated as the Army Service Forces representative for New England.

SET UP NEW BOARD

Under the direction of the War Production Board and War Manpower Commission, an Area Production Urgency and Manpower Priorities Committee is being established for WPB Region 1, comprising Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, has sent telegrams to state directors asking them to use the information and recommendations supplied by the designated Army officers and similar representatives being named by other government agencies.

Recommendations made by the advisory committee are not binding on the state directors, however, Gen. Hershey explained.

SMITH TO DECIDE

Col. Ralph M. Smith, Massachusetts selective service director, informed local draft boards that essential war workers under 26 would be exempt from the draft only on his personal endorsement.

As a guide to local boards, Gen. Hershey released a revised list of 14 industrial categories deemed vital for prosecuting and winning the war. Greater Boston shipyard and electrical workers were seen certain to obtain further deferments under the terms of this list.

First Waltham Fire Chief Dies

George L. Johnson, 74, first chief of the Waltham fire department and a member of the force for 45 years, was found dead in bed today at his Chestnut st., home, by his housekeeper, Mrs. Graves Graverson. He had been ill a week.

Johnson entered the department in 1894, 14 years before it was made a permanent municipal department. He became chief in 1908 when the call force was regularized and served until 1939, when he retired.

A widower with no children, he was once president of the Fire Chiefs Club of Massachusetts, a trustee of the Massachusetts Firemen's Ass'n and an officer of the International Fire Chiefs Ass'n. He also was a member of the Masons, Odd Fellows, Elks and Knights of Pythias.

Grove Victim Leaves Hospital

Hospitalized since he was horribly burned in the Cocoanut Grove night club fire almost a year and a half ago, Clifford Johnson, 22-year-old Coast Guardsman, was bound for his home in Sumner, Mo., today, on a three-weeks leave from Brighton Marine Hospital.

Johnson was the only victim of the fire, which claimed 492 lives on Nov. 28, 1942, who received more than 30 per cent third degree burns and survived. About 65 per cent of his body was covered with burns and he spent almost a year lying on his stomach to allow his skin-grafted back to heal.

WAC Mess a Mess, Make KPs Clean Up

By RUTH COWAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

WITH THE WACS IN BRITAIN (AP)—For the WACs it's a blow—where a blow hurts. It was found necessary to send in some KPs (male) to shine up the kitchen of the WAC mess in London. The girl soldier cooks got a bad mark on kitchen inspection.

A sergeant (male) told of it with a chuckle. The WACs see the humor of it, but feel they've been pitched a foul ball.

The WACs formerly had civilian helpers—as to many male outfits, even Marines—to "police up." But the story is that a lieutenant-general (male) had the civilian employes withdrawn.

Women, he believed, should do their own work. That was okay with the WACs, except for the complications.

For one thing, there is a rule that no WAC above the grade of corporal can do KP. And the WACs in the London detachment are getting up in the non-commissioned world.

Also, some of the "brass" won't release WAC privates working in their offices when their time comes for KP. "They think the WAC privates working for them are too good to do the dishes," commented one girl soldier.

Also the mess sergeant, Constance Delahoyde of Bath, N. Y., has been ill in the hospital. Three cooks have been off sick.

One cook badly injured her hand. It seems that men soldiers in supplies had been a little slow in handing out that essential kitchen item, the can-opener.

The girls have been having to use butcher knives and meat cleavers to open those big cans in which Army chow comes.

And just now comes a report that another cook fell and injured her back.

The WAC privates are very sorry that it was found necessary to send a male cleanup detail into their kitchen, but after all it's the same old story:

Even in the Army, it seems, women's work is never done.

Cafes Cautioned On Beer to Boys

Licensing Board Chairman Mary E. Driscoll today warned tavern and cafe owners not to serve alcoholic beverages to boys and girls whose ages they doubt, regardless of age records the patrons may produce.

Her action followed a complaint by police of the Roxbury Crossing division that a 16-year-old boy, arrested on a drunkenness charge, was served beer in the New Moon Restaurant, Washington st., Roxbury.

Antonio DeMatteo, the proprietor, told the licensing board the youth produced Army discharge papers which listed his age as 23.

Flood Fear Grows

India Crisis Sequel Feared in Capital

By RAY RICHARDS

WASHINGTON, April 12—Even those in Washington who are most opposed to inexpert discussion of technical military strategy were agreeing today that the crisis in India may have a profound effect on the future Allied conduct of the war.

The military and political situations in India, with vast and threatening implications, may prove the influence that will bring about a shift of basic Allied strategy from "Germany first" through sheer need of self-preservation, it was conjectured by many.

The very least that can be looked for in the face of continued Japanese progress in aggression and consolidation is a correction of the muddled Far Eastern command, it was stated, on the ground that the Japanese successes in Manipur state, as they were more than two years ago on the Malay peninsula, are clearly the result of Allied tactical errors.

No name but that of Gen. MacArthur is mentioned in talk of a single, over-all commander for the Pacific and Asiatic land, sea and air forces.

The failure to meet the Japanese and throw them back on the Burma-India frontier to save the Imphal supply base, and the apparent negligence that now permits the Japanese to approach the Assam-Bengal railway and thus threaten the isolation of the American forces in north Burma, is held by commentators to be more inexcusable by far than was the early lack of comprehension and preparedness that lost Singapore.

The Japanese claimed they captured 60,000 Indian troops in the conquest of Burma and Malaya, and these are now represented by the enemy's radio stations as Indian offensive under the direct leadership of Subhas Chandra Bose, proclaimed by the Japanese fighting with the Japanese in the as head of the "India provisional government."

Lake Gives Glimpse Of Flier's Last Raid

By AUSTEN LAKE

The Army news item was impersonally terse. It read, "Maj. Gerald Johnson of Owenton, Ky., credited with 18 enemy planes, is missing in action."

Short weeks ago, in England, I spent the night with Maj. Johnson in his squadron billet, a chateau surrounded by a moat and entered over a drawbridge. By peacetime standards it was a delightful setting in which the 24-year-old C-O and his youthful colleagues lived like college fraternity brothers in a campus chapter house.

I cannot tell you how the Major was lost, for the Army announcement merely said, "during an attack on enemy airfields and railyards at Tours, France." But I can tell you how his squadron mates saw him during his last, free hours—as I too had seen him, the replica of a pre-combat scene that goes on and on every early morning through the vast network of U. S. fighter fields.

There was a musk smell on the last early morning. Gray ground mists hung like layers of cotton wadding over the meadows and a puss-colored moon cast a strange, eerie grow through the pre-dawn dark. A canvas-hooded truck waited outside the old mansion where sleep-soaked pilots gobbled last mouthfuls of breakfast bacon and imitation eggs

ALL MEN EQUAL

At intervals Maj. Johnson, a youth with adolescent pinfuzz on his chin, hollered, "Get goin'. Ten minutes to briefing." For here there was none of the rigid discipline of the ground troops, just an easy freemasonry where all men were socially equal. So finally the "Maje" herded his fighters into the van where they sat in habitual, post-breakfast silence and sucked cigarets that made a firefly pattern in the gloom.

The sky had grown bright by octaves as we reached the airdrome where already the ground crews were "revving" the motors of the big Thunderbolts, planes whose silhouettes looked like gigantic cigar butts.

Even at that moment the larger, slower craft were humming overhead toward their Channel rendezvous.

WORLD SCARCELY AWAKE

Elsewhere in the tight, habit-bound little island of Britain the world was scarcely awake. But in the fighter fields the working day was in full march. In the briefing room with its enlarged, colored wall-maps, its blackboard time table and schoolroom benches, leather jacketed pilots lounged in underslung attitudes while the intelligence officers read weather, direction and target minutiae that dictated the fighter's course, elevation and the mysteries of their mission.

I have watched college football coaches give their squads last minute, before-the-battle harangues with far more emotional tension than Maj. Johnson briefed his pilots before this sweep. There was no nervous excitement as the boyish major baritoned, "We'll go in deep today. So we'll stay together and hope to come home that way . . . There'll be some cirrus clouds at 25,000 feet and we'll take that level in tight formation . . . It's enemy fighter country, and we'll see some bandits . . . If so, bounce 'em in pairs, never alone . . . And watch that sun, it's where they hide . . ."

I watched the eyes of these kids, few of them older than 23; watched for that pinpoint of white light in their eyes and the expressions of frozen excitement. But there was none. Nor any clenched knuckles or gritted teeth. They smoked, sipped coffee, munched sandwiches and listened attentively, with about the same cubbish relaxation of a junior prom committee discussing the details of the mid-year dance. "Keep the R. T. clear," said the major, referring to the radio telephone. "I'll do all the talking. Now, 10 minutes to takeoff time. Any questions?" There were none.

So finally, when Gerald Johnson snuffed out the end of his cigar and said quietly, "Okay, let's go," there was no concerted rush for the door or sprint for the planes. They just meandered out with their parachute harness over their arms and took it like another routine day in their high velocity life. And Maj. Johnson had paused to tell me, with the relish that a youngster starts on a fishing trip, "This oughta be hot-stuff . . . we may bag a few." There was no thought that, in turn, perhaps, he might be "bagged."

And presently the juvenile major and his squadron kids, who so lately had been kids like the ones who snatched pies from your windowsills or apples from your orchard or raked your autumn leaves, were high in the sky over enemy territory. And the major's voice was coming back through the R. T. in metallic tones, "Four 'bogies' at three o'clock . . . close up, Jim, your draggin' anchor . . . I'm makin' a right orbit," just as he had undoubtedly done the day he was lost. The major and his kids came back that day. Where is he now?

China Trip by Wallace Alters Politics for 1944

By DAVID SENTNER

WASHINGTON, April 12—Announcement that Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, leading New Deal apostle or brotherly internationalism, would leave on an "official trip" to China, was interpreted on Capitol Hill as washing him out of the 1944 political picture.

Inasmuch as the vice-president will not leave on his mission for several months, he is expected to be expounding his theories on global do-goodism to the Chinese at the time the Democratic national convention is focusing its excitement on the running mate to its fourth-term presidential nominee.

The prospect of Wallace stumping the Orient, far-removed from the opportunity of making campaign speeches, was greeted in Democratic party circles with joy.

While Henry has grown in political stature among the left-wing elements of the New Deal, he is no favorite among the party leaders.

In fact, it is rumored in congressional corridors that President Roosevelt, who insisted on him as a running mate in the 1940 convention, suggested that Wallace balance his recent good-will trip to South America with an even longer one to the Far East.

Chungking Awaits Visit of Wallace

CHUNGKING, April 12 (AP)—"A great welcome" will be given Vice-President Wallace when he visits Chungking, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs K. C. Wu said

Veterans' Friend

Q—Does a member of the Fleet Reserve recalled from retirement to active duty and after a year of duty returned to the retired list again, with pension reinstated, apply for mustering-out pay? S. F. L., Boston.

A—Sorry, but you are not entitled to mustering-out benefit because when you were returned to inactive duty your pension was restored.

Q—I have served overseas with the Army and was returned to the United States in the latter part of 1943. Shortly after my return I received a Bad Conduct discharge. Am I entitled to mustering-out pay? J. C. H., Malden.

A—Servicemen who receive Bad Conduct or Dishonorable discharges are barred from applying for mustering-out pay.

Q—I was inducted in the Army July 2, 1943, as "Auxiliary Police, First Service Command," and received my discharge Feb. 8, 1944. Am I entitled to any mustering-out pay? F. D. S., Salem.

A—Members of the Auxiliary Police are in no way connected with the armed forces. No status is affiliated with the appointment insofar as veterans are concerned.

Q—My husband is in the armed forces. The first allotment check that I received was two months after he entered the service and have been regular since. What I wish to find out is whether I am entitled to the first two months that I failed to get allotment money? G. M. P., Boston.

A—I doubt if you will be able to obtain the two months allegedly due you. The Office of Dependency and Allotments, Newark, N. J., state that they only act on applications when received at their headquarters. If it was delayed reaching them there is nothing that can be done. However, you might write them and explain the situation, giving husband's serial number, and when you started to receive allotment.

(All questions submitted to the Veterans Friend, Record-American, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston, will be answered in the columns of these newspapers. If a personal answer is desired, enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.)

HERE FOR REHEARSALS—Richard Kollmar, producer of "Dream With Music," and his wife, Dorothy Kilgallen, Boston American columnist and co-author of the musical, arrive in Boston today . . . coming here with the entire company for a period of dress rehearsals prior to the show's opening Monday evening. Protect Seed-Avoid Planting Too Early

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head, Market Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.)

Seeds are precious this year and gardener should not plant too early. However, some spots warm up rapidly after the frost has left the ground, so a number of Greater Boston gardeners will have their plots started by the end of this month.

April 15 to May 1 is the approximate time to plant the cool weather crops. These crops will stand considerable cool weather if the land is dry enough to work. Watch your soil conditions and let this be a guide as soil conditions are more important than temperature with these crops.

FOR EARLY PLANTING

The following cool crops can now be planted if you can get your land in condition: Peas, spinach, beets, carrots, onions, radishes lettuce from seed and early turnip.

Cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, lettuce which is grown from plants, should not be set for another week or ten days.

We have had a few warm days but do not get too anxious to plant. Give the soil a chance to warm up and be sure that spring is really here.

WORK UP SEED BED

In making your first plantings, be sure the seed bed has been properly prepared. The ground should be raked until you are certain that all clods or lumps are broken up. You should also be sure that the soil has had a chance to settle. This year it is drier than usual and unless the seed bed is carefully prepared there will be a lot of gardens with poor stands of early crops.

If you want to make your work easy be sure that you lay the garden out straight. Get a good line and a couple of stakes and start out by having good straight rows. If the first row is straight, others will line up easily and make your work more efficient.

CHENEY'S MEASURED VITAMINS

SCIENTIFIC nutrition surveys show that many present day diets do not provide a sufficiency of Vitamin B Complex for the highest state of health. Countless thousands of people who are not actually sick suffer continually from discomforts and minor ailments which put them below par physically because of Vitamin B deficiency. Since diets deficient in one factor of the whole Vitamin B Complex rarely contain adequate amounts of other factors, administration of the entire complex is frequently indicated. The great lack of Vitamin B Components in the average American diet has been pointed out time and time again in literature on nutrition. The increasing use of highly refined foods; the decortication, or overmilling of our grain; the fact that B is water soluble and is likely to be lost when water in which food is cooked is discarded are factors that lead to deficiency. Present studies indicate that the body cannot store enough of this Vitamin B Complex to meet requirements for any considerable time. Cheney's whole B Complex has a natural dried yeast base, strengthened and fortified, containing all the factors of B Complex in balance.

All Our Schools Need American History

PROFESSORS representing many of California's splendid institutions of higher learning have termed American History a vital subject and urged that it be given its rightful place in the curricula of all the nation's schools.

At the same time, the professors deplored the existence of a movement in many sections of the country to sabotage American History on the ground that it "does not lead to world citizenship."

Dr. Edgar F. Robinson of Stanford said:

"We need histories of Americans abroad and of Americans in the world, but it first of all must be AMERICAN HISTORY."

New England colleges and universities could profit by California's patriotic example.

Too many of our schools place little or no emphasis on the inspiring story of the growth of the United States from a new frontier to the greatest nation the world has known.

In fact, in some colleges and universities, students are permitted to neglect American History completely, with the result that alumni are seldom fully educated when they go into business or the professions.

American History should be a compulsory study in every educational institution.

More Endangered Children

MISS KATHARINE F. LENROOT, chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, says the number of juvenile delinquency cases disposed of by 145 representative courts throughout the country has increased 31 per cent.

And next year's record, she adds, may be even worse, because the induction of more fathers into the armed services "WILL INEVITABLY MEAN GREATER STRAINS ON FAMILY LIFE."

This is a warning no responsible American can afford to ignore.

It is a challenge to parents, churches, schools, welfare organizations and the State and Federal governments.

Many cities and towns are striving to save their seriously endangered young people, BUT FEW OF THEM ARE DOING ENOUGH.

Thoughtful persons become momentarily aroused, make ambitious plans and then lapse into apathy as spectacular happenings at home and abroad attract and hold their interest.

The campaign against juvenile delinquency must be a 24-hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week, 52-weeks-in-the-year battle

It is a battle in every sense and meaning of the word, for on its successful outcome rests the fate of a generation of Americans—the generation that will be called upon to rebuild the country out of the ruin and wreckage of war.

An Important Exhibition

MORE THAN five thousand Boston public school pupils will participate in a physical fitness exhibition tonight at Boston Garden.

Activities ranging from the dancing and rhythmic exercises of the early grades to the diversified and rigorous drills of the senior high school will demonstrate the phases and value of the recently inaugurated health courses.

It is important not because it is one of the biggest events of its kind ever held in the East.

It is important because it illustrates a great step forward in the training of American youth.

In the past, most children received little or no athletic instruction.

A few boys in a school were singled out for football, baseball or some other competitive sport.

And the rest of the student body sat on bleachers and confined their exercising to their vocal chords.

The result was a generation of handicapped men and women and a harvest of 4F's for the military forces.

Today, with calisthenics for everybody, all students receive the same fair treatment and an equal opportunity to grow and develop.

An All-Summer Activity

OUR BOSTON streets have not been so clean in years as Mayor Tobin's "spic and span" campaign has made them.

No longer will we be labelled the worst looking city in the country by the thousands of servicemen who visit us each week.

Moreover, the value of many neighborhoods has been greatly increased as backyards and alleys were made more presentable.

But a single Spring cleaning will hardly be enough. If Boston is to retain its improved appearance, the work so well begun must continue throughout the summer.

Every property owner should be prepared to do his part by making his premises as attractive as those of his neighbors.

WHEN the German high command becomes displeased with a general they certainly give him quite a kick downstairs. The German Lieut.-Gen. von Spoernack was recently reduced in rank to a corporal . . . Who is the strongest man in the United States at this time? How about that 130-pound man the Evansville, Ind., police caught carrying out of a house an 800-pound piano? . . . In New Bedford, Jeanette Hotte married Sergt. J. A. Shiver. Jeanette didn't get much of a break in her change of names. How did you make out, lady? I think upon marriage the couple should take the better name. That is, if a girl named Stevens marries a man named Snicklefuss the couple should decide to be known as Mr. and Mrs. Stevens.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: William H. Wooley of Bloxwich, England, has been a coal miner 69 years and is still going strong. He is 80 now . . . "Greer Garson, who was known as Ginger during her college days, has hair the color of cedar wood and extraordinarily blue eyes," states a film reporter. Either Miss Garson has eyes of changeable color or I am color blind. The last time I saw her she had green eyes.

CARNATIONS are now selling in London for 5 shillings, or about a dollar each. That must be tough on the fellows who wear a carnation in their coat lapel every day. How long could a man keep the same carnation fresh and what is the best way to do it? I don't care about knowing about this for myself, but the maitre de hotel at the place I am staying wears a carnation at all times and if I can give him a good tip on carnations I may be able to get in right with him. I mean maybe on Saturday nights when they have roast beef he will reserve me a slice.

SIDELIGHTS: The United States now has its armed forces on 75 different fronts . . . Now investigators are finding horse meat mixed in the hamburger for sale in some butcher shops . . . In England girls of 21 are being drafted to replace men of military age in war plants. If, for example, a girl of 21 is employed as a stenographer, usherette, waitress or in any non-essential industry she has to quit that and go to work in a war plant. Something like that may be done in the United States if some of the gentlemen in Washington have their way.

"I'm not very good at this game!"

PASSING BY: Jean Hersholt. Veteran film actor. Still portraying lovable old gentlemen. I would like to see him play a villain once in a while. Mr. Hersholt has been married 30 years to the same woman and has lived in Hollywood all that time. That is the Hollywood record for enduring marriages. He should be elected president of the Hollywood Always Club, which is made up of members of the film colony who have been married only once.

ASIDES: "Sometimes they come out waving a white flag and then fire on you." Was the man who said this talking about the Japs? Not at all. That is what Lieut.-Gen. Omar Bradley said to his troops regarding the Germans. What has become of that "honor in warfare," of which the Germans have so long boasted . . . What is the toughest spot at which a member of the A. E. F. can be stationed? How about Shaghak Bay, Adak island in the Aleutians. Men stationed there have gone as long as 16 months without seeing a woman.

SIDELIGHTS: A woman with a genuine sense of humor and whose wit flows easily and gracefully can be a wonderful companion, but these females who are always trying so hard to be brilliant, bright and cute can be quite a strain . . . "Buying gasoline on the black market is unpatriotic," states a contemporary. Quite so. Not only that, it is criminal and a type of treason. It is about time some of these black market buyers and sellers were given a coat of tar and feathers and a ride on a pole built for two . . . The manner in which a woman furnishes a house is something which can give you a very good start on judging her general character . . . My favorite Gilbert & Sullivan opera is "Patience."

PLEASE NOTE: Male inventors continue to originate appliances that will make housework even easier than it is now. After the war, when these gadgets are put on the market, the woman who has them will be able to do all her work in two hours or less. The husbands will then be confronted with the problem of how to keep out of mischief a wife who has so much spare time on her hands.

BRIEFLY: A man can buy as many pairs of pants as he wants, so why the legislation against two pant suits? . . . It has been said "when the child swore Diogenes struck the father." If parents of some of those delinquent youngsters were heavily fined or sent to jail when said youngsters committed a crime, perhaps they wouldn't be so careless as to what their children were doing . . . U. S. Marine Corporal Joseph Murphy of Jersey City, N. J., now in the South Pacific, has received a 27,000-word letter from a San Diego, Cal., girl. So states a dispatch, which fails to mention the name of the girl. Whoever she is, the young lady is unquestionably the long letter writing champion of the country. But not by as wide a margin as you may think. A soldier in North Africa wrote me he had received a 21,000-word letter from his wife.

HATS: In as much of the Easter parade as I saw, the so-called "half hat" seemed popular. This "half hat" seems a good idea. It appears to protect women against themselves. They can't wear this hat flat on the head and make themselves look as if they were suffering from a slight case of arrested development. Nor can they wear it down over their forehead and make themselves look 10 years older.

PASSING BY: El Brendel. One of my favorite comedians. Remember him in vaudeville with Flo Burt? And in the film "What Price Glory" with Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen? Mr. Brendel is another of the innumerable entertainers who first saw the light of day in Philadelphia . . . Harry Akst, Song writer. Has just composed "The Kid I Have Never Seen," inspired by number of men in armed forces who have yet to get to see their first child.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 12—Joan Fontaine had luncheon today with Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder, adopters of Molnar's play, "Olympia." As you probably suspected, the boys are inviting Joan to star in their play at Paramount, once reported for Ingrid Bergman.

I talked with Joan, who said if she likes the play she will do it. "I need character parts," she said, "such as 'Rebecca' and 'Suspicion,' or light comedy roles. I don't feel I want to play straight parts."

She would get Billy Wilder as a director and that, in the opinion of most actors, is a break. Joan, too, said she would like to go back to Paramount, for she likes the studio. She said she hadn't seen Brian Aherne since their decision to separate, but she has had several letters from him.

MYRON SELZNICK AGENCY will function with Charles Morrison in charge. An agent before he went into the restaurant business, Charlie will devote most of his time to seeing that the London offices and the Selznick clients in Hollywood get the best possible representation. In addition to the boys already in the Selznick agency, new blood will be added. David Selznick, according to the announcement, chose Morrison because he didn't want to take anyone from another agency. He, himself, is too busy to give his brother's business full time. Interesting that Morrison was chosen, since his wife was formerly Dora Joyce, wife of Frank Joyce, who started the business with Myron 12 years ago.

I MET GEZA KORVIN the day he was signed by Universal and changed his name to George Korvin. I was very impressed with him because he seemed to be unusually attractive and I had heard he was very good in Eugenia Leontovich's play, "Dark Eyes." Now he is returning to New York just long enough to take out a marriage license and marry Helena Fredericks, and then back to Hollywood with his bride. She was the assistant stage manager of "Dark Eyes" and that's where George met and courted her. When George returns, Universal will announce his first assignment. I imagine he will play character parts, although his accent is very slight and he speaks excellent English.

WHAT COULD be more fitting and proper than the signing of 9-year-old Richard Lyon on a long-term contract at Paramount, where his lovely mother, Bebe Daniels, was a star for so long? Young Richard, who has the poise of Basil Rathbone (and something of his same accent) goes into "Fear" with Joel McCrea and Gail Russell. He will play opposite a little girl named Sharon Moffet, and the children's roles are very important in this chiller. Richard is such a grown little boy and I am so fond of him. Someone once asked him if he knew me. "Know Louella Parsons!" he gasped. "I've known her all my life—eight years."

Shirley Temple is playing her first love scene in "Double Furlough" for Dore Shary. I'll bet she giggles, because she's at the age when life is wonderful and everything's a laugh. The boy to whom she makes movie love is Dare Harris, one of her admirers in real life, and who is one of the few her mother has passed approval on and lets her go out to dinner with. But Shirley says there are others she likes just as much as Dare.

FASCINATING LETTER from Richard Gully, cousin of Anthony Eden and well connected in England. Richard says while it's wonderful to be in England he misses Hollywood. His brother is an officer in the Navy, while he is a private in Uncle Sam's Army. After a year's naval duty in the Pacific and Indian oceans, his brother arrived in London about the same time as Richard and they had a great reunion. He said they went to a musical comedy called "Something in the Air" and the best song was "Home Is Where the Heart Is," sung by Sicely Courtneidge, who was once in Hollywood. He also saw "Arc de Triomphe," Ivor Norvello's musical play. The finale, with Mary Ellis as Joan of Arc singing "France Will Rise Again," is deeply moving, he writes.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Kathryn Grayson dining with John Shelton. Goodness, do you suppose it's another reconciliation? She's so often in and out of the lawyer's office it's hard to keep track; remember that baby, Dickie Moore? Well, he is now a private in the Army; M-G-M's prize dog, "Lassie," is a father. It's one son and five daughters; Cesar Romero, according to a letter received, is stationed at Honolulu and, with the war going on, there are plenty of autograph hounds after him; Susan Peters is convalescing at Santa Monica Hospital; leading the Conga line at the Trocadero the other eve were Jinx Falkenburg and Lieut. Manuel Arrick; Fieldsy and Walter Lang hosted an Easter party that is still being discussed as an event to remember. The occasion was a farewell to Clark Gable, who leaves very soon for Washington or elsewhere. The Jack Benny's, the Bob Hopes, Barbara Stanwyck, Kay Williams, Virginia Bruce, the Ray Millands, Ann Sothern and Lieut. Bob Sterling, and some 40 others sang, danced and made merry. The next night Toni Lanier had a group of Eddie Mannix and Clark's friends for dinner, so altogether it was a pleasant week-end;

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Tuesday—In National Red Cross headquarters the other morning, I looked at some familiar pictures—an exhibition of paintings done in New Guinea, which I had seen in Australia. Some of them, of course, were done by men who were artists or illustrators in civilian life. Some were done by men who never before had painted anything.

The only prize offered was the promise that the paintings would be exhibited in this country, and I hope that anyone who happens to be in Washington will wander into the Red Cross building and see the work.

WHILE we were on Galapagos, one of the officers wrote some verses inspired by a Navy commander's pets, two Iguanas. The verses amused me and so, with the author's permission, I quote them here:

"Iguanas are unlovely creatures;
They have the very plainest features.
Their lives are simple, happy, blameless;
Their meat for stew is simply famous.
They nest in most outlandish places,
From corner-stones to packing-cases;
Since each is homelier than the other
Their mating is no bother.
And so they propagate their race
Without regard to form or face.
I wouldn't mind their wooing smugly,
If they weren't so gosh-darn ugly."

Let Wings Fly Away With Frown Lines

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

LAUGH and the world laughs with you . . . frown and you frown alone . . . to paraphrase an old bromide . . . but in beauty parlance there's special significance in the words. For frown lines are the nemesis of every beauty-conscious woman. They rob her face of spontaneity and youthful vivacity . . . they make a young face look old and much too serious . . . they are responsible for more crows feet than old age.

Yet there is a simple modern and useful beauty accessory . . . effectively medicated . . . which will give you amazing results if used regularly. In Hollywood . . . the glamour gals make persistent and constant use of these flesh-colored small wing-shaped tabs . . . treated so that they adhere firmly to the skin . . . to protect the youthful resiliency and firmness of their face when they're not gazing into the Klieg lights.

GIVE FACE LIFT

These wings . . . for that's what they look like . . . give your face a lift and guard your beauty . . . although there is no effort, no bother and no fuss to putting them on the frown lines . . . or the laugh lines beside the mouth and under the eyes.

As a matter of fact, whenever it is convenient . . . while reading . . . or writing . . . or knitting . . . or doing the kitchen chores . . . the wings can be applied and left on to smooth away gently those lines which can develop into tragic lacy patterns on our face . . . or furrowed lines of a worried look.

Of course the best time to use them is at night . . . when the facial muscles are relaxed. Few gals realize it . . . but we frequently frown and draw the facial muscles while we sleep. And, if you place this simple beauty aid on the lined area . . . in time you'll note how it gradually disappears. It is a harmless cosmetic . . . medicinally treated . . . to force away facial lines created when we twist our faces into deep and meditative scowls . . . unconsciously and unknowingly, to be sure.

DRAW UP MUSCLES

These wing-shaped tabs can be used when you're playing golf or tennis or motoring and the glaring sunlight is in direct line with your vision. At these particular times, we most always draw up our facial muscles into ugly distortions . . . but if you have a wing over the areas where you frown and scowl . . . the tissue underneath the tab will not have an opportunity to wrinkle up.

Simply moisten the wings and place them over the frown lines or wrinkles . . . pressing with the palm of the hand until they adhere firmly. Do not stretch or pull the lines apart when applying. If you are using the wings as a preventive . . . follow the same metrod of application and let them stay on your face overnight . . . while you sleep.

They are easily removed with a little water. A small box sells for only thirty-five cents . . . while the theatrical size is priced at one dollar. This new and simple beauty accessory is harmless for the skin . . . but a great boon to dispelling frown and laugh lines.

For the name of these frown-line removers, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HERE IS A SPRING JUMPER DRESS . . . interesting and intriguing . . . that will carry over into summer. This New York design is all of a piece . . . buttoned down the back . . . with the sleeves and dickey in peppermint striped crepe . . . to contrast most becomingly with the black shantung. It is an ingenious way of giving the youthful jumper-dress effect in one piece . . . slimming and utterly girlish. The off-the-face black felt hat . . . and the new jewelry fashion note of gold loops . . . add chic to the costume.—R. M.

FLESH COLORED SMALL WING-SHAPED TABS . . . treated so that they adhere firmly to the skin . . . will help you rid your facial expression of frown and laugh lines. Renee Godfrey, a Samuel Goldwyn starlet, has a line-free face . . . young and lovely.

Why Not Vacation?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I married one of the best men that ever lived, 11 years ago, and thought I could learn to love him. I find after all this time that love is impossible. Still, I don't love anyone else. He may surmise this, but isn't certain. If he were sure of this it would mean a separation.

There are certain business interests we share in common which would suffer if they were divided. Do you think I should continue the rest of my life this way—married but unloving—or should I get a divorce and go to work? I am still young enough to start life over again. We have no children, and if I should leave my husband I would really miss him. U.

Perhaps you are one of those women incapable of deep, emotional love. You have no real grievance against your husband who you say is one of the best men that ever lived. You also tell me you would miss him if you left him, and that your separation would result in financial loss. Putting all these things together, it seems to me unwise for you to consider divorce and the breaking up of your home.

I think you're just tired of dreadful war news and going 'round and 'round on the same chain. Why not suggest a little vacation?

Rhubarb Desserts Ever Popular in Springtime

By MARTHA LEE

EARLY rhubarb comes along just in time to save those "winter-into-spring" menus from the doldrums. Its brilliant rosy hue and refreshing tang add an enticing sprightliness to a variety of desserts.

And in this season when appetites are poor, it's a good idea to pack as much lusty nourishment into foods as possible so that small servings supply a goodly share of the food factors needed for good nutrition. That's one reason why irradiated evaporated milk is so valuable. With this double-rich milk, it is possible to tuck into many foods twice as much milk nourishment plus the extra vitamin D which irradiation provides.

RHUBARB BAVARIAN

1 tbsp. gelatin
1 cup stewed rhubarb
½ cup water ½ cup sugar
1 cup irradiated evaporated milk, chilled for whipping

Soak gelatin in water. Add sugar and softened gelatin to hot rhubarb. Stir to dissolve. Let stand until mixture begins to set. Whip chilled milk until stiff. Fold in the rhubarb mixture lightly but thoroughly.

RHUBARB WHIP

1 cup irradiated evaporated milk, chilled for whipping
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup sweetened rhubarb pulp

When ready to serve, whip chilled milk until stiff. Fold in lemon juice, then rhubarb. Pile into serving dishes and serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

RHUBARB CUSTARD PIE

2 egg yolks and 1 whole egg
⅓ cup sugar ½ tsp. salt
1 2-3 cups irradiated evaporated milk
1 1-3 cups sliced rhubarb
½ tsp. vanilla extract
Unbaked pie shell

Beat egg yolks and egg. (The extra egg whites are used for meringue.) Add sugar and salt. Add milk, rhubarb and vanilla. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 minutes, then reduce heat to a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) and bake until custard is set, about 20 minutes longer. Cover with meringue and brown in a slow oven (325 deg. F.).

MERINGUE

2 egg whites ⅛ tsp. salt
¼ cup sugar

Beat egg whites with the salt until foamy. Add the sugar a little at a time and continue beating until meringue will stand in peaks.

RHUBARB SHORTCAKE

2 cups sifted flour ½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. baking powder
5 tbsp. shortening
1-3 cup irradiated evaporated milk, mixed with 1-3 cup water
2½ cups rhubarb sauce

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut shortening into flour mixture. Add milk and mix quickly but thoroughly. The dough should be soft. Turn onto a floured board. Knead about ½ minute. Roll to ½ inch thickness. Cut and place on baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven (450 deg. F.) until brown, about 12 minutes. Split biscuits, then fill and top with rhubarb sauce. When ready to serve, garnish with rhubarb cream topping.

RHUBARB CREAM TOPPING

½ cup irradiated evaporated milk
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup rhubarb sauce, chilled

Prepare topping just before serving shortcake. Chill milk icy cold. Whip until very stiff. Fold in lemon juice, then fold in rhubarb sauce quickly but thoroughly. Top shortcakes and serve at once.

Double-Duty Party Suit

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SUITS that are slated to wear to parties all spring and into the summer are quite an item in the styles. And they are going to be mighty useful to any girl who has one, because with changes of blouses you have many party costumes in one.

The party suit may be made of fine wool, of chantung or of any other silk or fine rayon material. The model sketched is made of double-faced silk, pebbly on one side and satin on the other. Zoe de Salle, who makes the suit, uses the dull side with bands of the satin, on both the jacket and the skirt. The blouse is white cotton with gold flecks in it, making a rich effect, and the skirt has a satin belt and buttons at the front.

A tiny black bonnet with a lace border of white daisies and gold dots is a charming hat with the suit. Zoe de Salle also designed it.

NEW YORK, April 12—Manhattan Glitter: Joy Hodges, being seen by the first robin in Central Park . . . Gene Kelly openly smooching with his wife, Betsy Blair, at Leon & Eddie's, while the onlooking femmes go quietly mad. (And with the Mrs. he doesn't have to worry about messing make-up; she doesn't wear any—not even lipstick!) . . . Fred Stone and Joe E. Howard who together represent more than a century of show business, chatting in the lobby of the Palace before a preview of Zorina's "Follow the Boys" . . . Expectant father Jan Kiepura, in Sardi's reading the news about Gotham's quadruplets—with lifting eyebrows . . . At 21, Phyllis Brooks wearing a veiled hat that grandma might have worn the day she took her first ride in a horseless carriage . . . Fritz Kreisler chinning with Clifton Fadiman in the Barberry Room.

Joan Davis

JOAN DAVIS, the film and radio comic, showed up at Jack Dempsey's restaurant the other day for lunch, and observers were surprised to see how she looks in person. Most glamour girls don't look as luscious as their camera copies, but Joan—who always kids her own appearance and has seldom been photographed in anything but a comic grimace—is really a very neat looking hunk of material . . . They say that the Sinatra imitation to end all Sinatra imitations has been done by Harry Richman. And Harry, in a different way, was the Frankie Boy of his era . . . Autograph kids ask Marion Hutton, the vocal jitterbug, to sign her sister Betty's name too. They figure it's all in the family . . . The Boys Club's "frog jumping contest" to be held at Manhattan Center on the 29th is a sign that the Warner Brothers picture, "Mark Twain," is about to be released. Wouldn't you say?

FACES IN PLACES: Authoress Ellin Mackay Berlin a lone luncher at the Mayan . . . At Toots Shor's—Ethel Merman, who has discovered she's allergic to (of all awful blows) platina fox! . . . Prince Mike Romanoff, the alleged White Russian, dining with a Lady in Red at Coq Rouge . . . Dorothy Lamour, whose face and figure are a happy collaboration, swishing into the Cotillion Room . . . Julia Sanderson, who's had such a long run as a nice girl, running for her radio broadcast at Mutual . . . Lisette ("Merry Widow") Verea, in a beaded orange evening frock, making the rubbernecks work overtime at the Zanzibar . . . Margie Hart, the gal who got famous taking it off, putting it on at the Colony.

HOLLYWOOD, April 12—Glamor notes: Errol Flynn purchasing a newspaper with the headline, "Chaplin Acquitted," and saying to Pal, the newsboy on Sunset Strip, "I'm awfully glad to read this."

Ever since "See Here, Private Hargrove" played Santa Ana, when a soldier there does something wrong they call him a Hargrove . . . The motion picture colony is getting actively interested in politics for Albert Decker is running for the State Assembly from his district and Lucille Gleason is a candidate for the State Assembly from Beverly Hills . . . Warners are remaking "The Petrified Forrest," calling it "Strangers In Our Midst," and the Humphrey Bogart role is no longer a gangster but now a Nazi, played by Helmut Dantine . . . AN ARTICLE in Theater Arts called "The Overseas Motion Picture Service," by Maj. Orton H. Hicks, tells what pictures the servicemen overseas are seeing, how the pictures are delivered and incidents about them. Maj. Hicks says: "They want musicals and girl shows. OMPS picks every musical, every girl show that comes along. But, of course, there still are not enough; so the number is filled out with the more serious pictures and even occasionally a war picture.

"The reports that come back on war pictures are dissimilar. In some places the boys seem to like them and in others they don't. Probably the men that are right on the fighting fronts, themselves in active combat, do not want war pictures, but the seven men are backing up every man who is in the front line do like war pictures if they are good.

"That is more or less borne out by the fact that 'Air Force' and 'Wake Island' are two of the most popular pictures the OMPS ever sent overseas."

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT: Herman, on the Jack Benny program, saying to his girl: "What has Hedy Lamarr got that you haven't got—and all the time I know it" . . . The Actors Lab put on three condensed versions of Broadway hits which are to play the camps. Sam Levene was great in "Three Men On a Horse," and both Ann Rutherford and Frances Rafferty were excellent in "Kiss And Tell," while Marc Lawrence and Florence Bates were fine in "Arsenic And Old Lace." The Actors Lab is getting ready to do "Voice of the Turtle," and it is likely that either Katharine Hepburn or Joan Fontaine will play the Margaret Sullavan role.

Boston After Dark

BOSTON RINGSTERS WILL get their first view tonight of the man who succeeded Morton Downey in the affections of Barbara Bennett, the ex-Mrs. Downey . . . Barbara's husband—for the benefit of those who missed the headlines—is Addison Randall, the singing cowboy of the filliums . . . The couple made a pre-view appearance at The Mayfair's celebrity night . . . Arki-Yavensonne, boss of the Satire Room, squired the Randalls, and the good-looking youngster with the celebrated Arki was Olga Bogach of Roslindale.

MISS BOGACH was the winner (in a tie) of the Conover "Cover Girl" competition staged by a Boston theater . . . But she turned down a chance to model in New York, with a possible subsequent shot at one of the coveted roles in the picture "Cover Girl" . . . The reason was loyalty to her job—a government position.

AFTER TEN DAYS of the 30 per cent cabaret tax, headwaiters report generally that there has been a noticeable falling off in nightclub attendance by men in uniform . . . The boys on leave or furlough are patronizing spots where the tax does not prevail . . . An example is the Latin Quarter bar, where entertainment was cancelled when the tax became effective . . . Last night, the average patronage of that bar was 11 service men out of 12 customers . . . The consensus of opinion, some of it admittedly selfish, is that the tax will become increasingly unpopular.

A MOVEMENT TO LOBBY against it is gaining momentum, and the support of purveyors of varied nightclub services, as well as musicians, waiters and entertainers is being enlisted both in New York and Boston . . . One part of the tax that seems unfair is that it levies that staggering 30 per cent on food sales, as well as liquor.

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND confided to this pillar in Hollywood that she "hid out" from friends, relatives and bosses during her Cape Cod sojourn a summer ago at the Snow Inn, in Harwichport . . . "They were wonderful to me," said the star. "I got protection all day long . . . I guess it was evident that I needed the rest . . . I was 12 pounds underweight and on the brink of a breakup." . . . Artie Dann and Mata and Hari return to the Bradford Roof tomorrow night, and Ruby Foo's Den, it is expected, will be open at the same time.

VERSATILE DOROTHY KILGALLEN—whose feminine charm is as arresting as her talent for making Broadway jottings interesting—is in Boston in a new role today . . . Dotty has co-authored Hubby Fred Kollmar's new musical "Dream With Music" . . . Miss Kilgallen is a daughter of James Kilgallen, veteran reporter and war correspondent for the Hearst papers . . . From columning, Dorothy has gone on to full stature as a magazine writer . . . She makes two of the "slicks," including Cosmopolitan, with regularity . . . But collaborating on the libretto of a musical comedy, a very difficult (believe it or not) form of scrivening, is something new for the girl whose daily column appears daily at our left.

GAG MACABRE: Broadway is laughing at a macabre story, which Coburn Goodwin, the good actor man playing in "Decision" at the Copley Theater, passes along . . . It concerns the bereft widow, who mourned her late husband's loss so acutely, at first, that she had his ashes prominently on display on the mantel of the living-room . . . The ashes were kept in an open-top glass receptable, which resembled a gold-fish bowl, and friends came to survey the ashes, and express their sorrow at the husband's passing . . . But time passed and the widow once more sought some gay companionship . . . So her home became the center of some good times, and at these parties, people became careless and mistook Sam's remains-holder as a convenient place to drop cigar and cigarette ashes . . . And this kept going on.

ONE NIGHT, a guest was about to add the long ash from his cigar to the contents of the receptacle. But he took another startled look and said to the widow: "Well, well . . . Sam is putting on weight."

'Magic Flute' Opera Hit

By HARRIS MORGAN

Once again the star of the opera was Conductor Bruno Walter—even though the stage did contain Ezio Pinza, probably the best singing actor alive, and a number of the Met's best "names."

And so "The Magic Flute," in spite of its all but indecipherable libretto, was a grand evening on Huntington ave. That is, musically; for nobody now need pay the slightest to whatever there is of drama.

Those who attended last night simply because the performance was given in English were no better off. There is neither head nor tail nor rhyme nor reason in the fuzzy nonsense about that ancient temple of Isis.

In 1791, when poor Mozart threw the whole thing together to please the corny comedian, Schickaneder, who dreamed up this impossible libretto, it was the style to fill the stage with practically anything from the Nile, including horned serpents and strange birds. Also, the original is supposed to have had some significance to the Free Masons, of which Mozart was secretly a member.

But nothing can mar the music. The inexhaustible charm of the Mozart melodies, leaping and bubbling in any age, are always there to refresh and beguile.

Mr. Pinza was, as always, the virile basso portrayer.

Today's matinee is "La Boheme," tonight's show is "Carmen."

Mme. Wang Charms Hub Audience

By BETTY ALDEN

A CHARMING and very beautiful newcomer to Boston is Mme. Kung-Shou Wang (Lucy Chow) wife of the new vice-consul. She made her first public speech here yesterday at the United China Relief weekly luncheon and completely captivated an aristocratic audience with her engaging American conversatios style.

Since most people are curious about her background she told the story of her life to date. Still in her early twenties, she came to this country in 1938 to further her education in nursery training and child psychology at American universities. Learned to speak English in China but quickly taught on to American customs through living in a sorority house at Oregon State.

Hopes that after the war she can realize her dream of organizing orphanages and promoting modern methods of child training in her native land. Ruefully admits that in training her two-year-old son some of the principles of child psychology she taught at Maryland State before her marriage do not apply in practice:

Plays with son Wing in the Public Gardens and does the cooking in her Marlboro st. apartment preparing Chinese dishes for the most part. Wears modified Chinese dress, a page boy with sparkling earrings and in the evening flowers in her hair. Reads avidly and knits for soldiers.

Met and married her husband in Washington when he was secretary at the Chinese embassy and so far knows her in-laws only through photographs.

Her audience included Mrs. Arthur W. Hartt, director of United China Relief here; Mrs. Francis Hart, Mrs. James T. Loree, who entertained as her guest Mrs. Roy Pryor; Mrs. William Tudor Gardiner, Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Miss Lucy Drew, Mrs. U. Haskell Crocker, Mrs. Webb Trammel, Mrs. Carl Keller, who recently returned from the South; Mrs. Robert Cushman, who afterward attended a lecture in flower arrangement at the Women's City Club; and Mrs. Andrew Hepburn who went on a shopping tour for household linens after the China meeting.

SOCIETY'S BEST SALESWOMEN will be on one side of the counter and the Hub's keenest bargain hunters on the other when the Yankee Trading Post opens at 424 Boylston st. April 26th for a two-day sale to benefit Children's Hospital. The hospital wins half the proceeds and the donor the other half in this novel rummage sale which takes its cue from the trading methods of our Yankee ancestors.

Mrs. H. Parker Whittington, general chairman, has a small army of workers. Each group has an assigned task except the doctors' wives under Mrs. Bronson Crothers who will be jacks-of-all-trades and fill in where needed most.

Gibson Must Select 60 Girl Clerks at Suffolk

By JACK CONWAY

EARL GIBSON, director of the mutuel plant at Suffolk Downs, considers the job of the race track handicappers easy in comparison to the one with which he is confronted. All a race track handicapper has to do is to come up with two or three price horses a day that win and his customers cheer him lustily.

Earl has already received 300 applications from women who wish to work in the mutuel department at Suffolk Downs. Another 200 applications are expected before the polls close.

Earl Gibson

There will probably not be more than 60 jobs at the opening of the meeting. The number of positions may increase as the draft takes additional men for the armed services. For the time being, however, Gibson must select 60 women from his long list of applications.

"How are you going to make your choices?" I asked Earl as he had luncheon with Willard Stevens and Frank Ryan at an intown cafe.

"I haven't decided that one yet," he replied.

"How do the applicants run in the matter of age?" I questioned.

"The average age is from 30 to 50," Earl answered. "Many of the women are the wives of service men."

Willard Stevens said many of the applicants have been attracted by the glamour and color of racing.

"They will be surprised when they find that from their locations in the mutuel department they will be unable to see the races," said Stevens. "They will get the report of the race over the loud speaking system as Babe Rubenstein makes his call."

I added that I thought the $7 and $8 a day wages was also attractive to the women.

"It will be unless they try to beat the races," I added. "They will then find they are working for the betterment of the mutuel machines."

Many Women Bettors

MORT MAHONEY told me last season that more than 60 per cent of the bettors at race tracks are women. Most of them are betting their own money. Others are related to important people in racing who do not wish to go to the mutuel windows themselves. One girl who often bets $500 a day at New England tracks is a secretary to a bookmaker.

There are only a few women bettors who go all out on win bets. Most of them like to play a little percentage and bet horses to win, place and show. Until money became so common with the working classes, the majority of women were show bettors.

It is hoped that the women bettors will not engage in any hair pulling contests with the women mutuel clerks. It will be interesting to see how the Suffolk Downs experiment works out.

Today at Narragansett Park there will only be men mutuel clerks. There were more than 2000 applicants for the berths at the Rhode Island track.

Glen Lee in Army

I MET Glen Lee, former California middleweight, at the amateur bouts. He was in the company of Johnny Buckley. Lee has the rating of sergeant, and is attached to the 334th Regiment Infantry of the 84th Division. Lee retired from boxing in 1940 after engaging in 45 bouts that gave him financial security. He told me he likes the Army life, and that the men in service are vitally interested in athletics.

Buckley added that Ralph Zanelli's wife has presented him with a baby boy.

Gannon From Capital Steals Nationals Show

Classy Joe Gannon, Washington, D. C. welter, stole the show at the finals of the National A. A. U. boxing tourney in Boston Garden. While most of the titles went to mid-West contenders, Gannon brought the crowd to its feet time after time as he turned loose the most stylish boxing lessons seen in a local ring in recent years. His final bid was scoring an easy verdict over Ed. McDaniels of Cincinnati who cannot be considered an easy mark in any company.

Four real honest-to-goodness knockouts sparked the proceedings. Cleveland collected three titles of the eight distributed. Its big guns were Ray Standifer, 175 pounds and Sergt. Eddie Sims, U. S. A., heavyweight. This pair unloaded sleeping powders in the first round.

Major Jones, one of the clever boys on the program, took his title by dropping the redskin, Horace Tahbone of Oklahoma, in the first round.

The second boy from the Capital, and the most popular with the crowd, to win his crown, was Frank Sweeney, 160 pounder, who proved to be a miniature Mickey Walker. He won a decision over Panch Names of Philadelphia, in a stirring bout.

Narragansett Set For Today's Opener

By JACK CONWAY

NARRAGANSETT PARK, Pawtucket, R. I., April 12—With flags flying, its clubhouse and grandstand dolled up and its barn area filled with perfectly conditioned thoroughbreds, Narragansett Park was prepared to pry the lid off the New England racing season at 2:30 p. m. today.

President James E. Dooley predicted Narragansett Park would have the greatest spring meeting in its history. Rain and a sloppy track were expected to cut Judge Dooley's estimate of a 25,000 crowd. The attendance will likely go from 15,000 to 18,000 today.

All possibilities of any last-minute strike on the part of the grooms, such as occurred at Jamaica on Monday, was eliminated when President Dooley effected an agreement by which the grooms will receive $5 for each horse they bring to the paddock, while the groom who brings over the winning horse will be paid $15.

The agreement guaranteed that the big racing show would go on promptly at 2:30 p. m.

With almost 1200 horses on the grounds, Racing Secty. Ty Shea has secured a brilliant program for opening day. The eight race card will be headed by "The Inaugural" which is a one mile and one-sixteenth affair for four-year-olds and up. The entries included the names of Boot and Spur, First Draft, Mixer, Legation, Loveday, Ball Player and White Hope.

With capable jockeys like Pratt, Duncan, Claggett, Keiper, McMullen, Turnbull, Connolly, Scawthorn, Snyder, Sisto and many others on the grounds, the trainers will be able to secure good riders.

In addition to Ty Shea taking the post of the late Bob Shelley as racing secretary, there is another important change in the lineup of the Gansett officials. Norman Chalton has succeeded Norris Royden in the stewards' stand. He will be associated with Sam Nuchols. Hap Fenelon will again serve as State steward.

This will give Gansett ample strength in what is the key spot of every race track.

With his years of experience at New England race tracks as a chart caller, Charlton has gained knowledge that will be of value at the present meeting.

The turnstiles will click merrily as the admission price for the grandstand has been maintained at 50 cents, while that for the clubhouse is $1.00. The track has absorbed the new Federal admission tax. This tax has been hoisted from 10 to 20 per cent. By reducing the price of tickets, the track was able to keep its former admission scale of 50 cents and $1.

Track Superintendent Jim Linehan has done a fine job in getting everything ready for the opening. The track has been carefully prepared, while the clubhouse and grandstand have received their last finishing touches.

There will be additional mutuel windows in the swanky Terrace Club.

It was estimated that the opening day's handle would hit $700,000 while a handle of $1,000,000 is looked for an Saturday.

The soaring mutuel handles during the Florida season and later in New York indicate that the betting public has plenty of fresh money and is anxious to get it into action.

Starter Buddy Wingfield has made his last minute tests of his starting gate. As close to 2:15 p. m. as possible, he will press the button which will open the Puett gate.

They'll then be off and running at Gansett.

Jockey Permane Puts Across One Winner

Apprentice Jockey Bobby Permane rode Rosa Bonheur, $4.50, to victory in the first race at Jamaica yesterday. In the second he was second with Helvetian.

He was out of the money with his two other mounts, Free Air and Miss Puritan.

Cantabs Point to 1st Div. Schoolboy League Team

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Judging from the anxious tone of his voice, Coach Sonny Foley leaves little doubt that Cambridge Latin, a first division team in the Suburban Schoolboy Baseball League last year, will be up there battling for the championship before the season is far underway.

The Cantabs were washed out of their opener with Brookline earlier this week so that now Coach Foley can hardly wait for the invasion of the Newton nine at Russell Field, Cambridge, Friday. He knows he has something; he wants to prove it but most of all he doesn't want postponements piling up on him for the middle of the season.

FIVE VETERANS

Coach Foley will have five veterans from last year's team as a starter. He'd probably be ready to predict a championship if his catcher, Dick Aylward, now in the U. S. Marines, were back in the line-up. As a matter of fact, it's only in the receiving department that the definite starting nine has hit a snag.

Three backstops have caught the eye of the coach, Patsy Cardilla, Fran Sateriele and George Saidell. Cardilla, a candidate for the berth as a freshman two years ago, has the edge right now but he still has a long fight on his hands before he clinches the starting assignment. Sateriele was on the squad last season while Saidell, a gridder, offers a swell target for the pitchers.

Coach Foley feels that he has his best balanced pitching staff in years. He has a pair of veteran southpaws in Ed Anacherico and Stan Brinkerhoff, who'll alternate in the outfield, and a seasoned right-hander in Tom Burke, a nifty 6-footer. Then there's Eddie Leary, another leftie, with good control and a better curve than any of the veterans.

200-POUNDER AT FIRST

The left side of the infield will be well taken care of with Ralph Sabatino at short and Ray Foley at third, both holdovers from last spring. Sabatino, playing his third year, is the best in the league, according to his coach. He hits well and has a great arm.

First base will be a revelation to Cantab foes with Chub Kelley, 200-pounder ruling the ground around the initial sack. This station was Coach Foley's biggest problem last season but this apparently has been all taken care of with Kelley on the spot. Either Tony Fracas or George Costa will be playing alongside the giant first baseman at second.

In the outfield, Latin will have Brinkerhoff, when not pitching, Joe Breen, a sub last season, and John Caufield, a senior newcomer who has been burning up Rindge Park in practise sessions for the past two weeks. Caufield, providing Coach Foley isn't way off in his judgment of talent, will develop into the No. 1 all-scholastic candidate on the team. A left-handed fielder and right-handed batter, Caufield has proven to be a natural.

Outfield spares will be Roy Traynor, Bill Goldberg and Paul Felony.

Sox, Braves Tilt Today

By BILL GRIMES

HARTFORD, April 12 — The Braves and the Red Sox wind up their away from home exhibition series here this afternoon and if the weather man will give them a break, they'll test the capacity of Bukeley Stadium.

The Coleman and the Cronin men came over from New York this morning. They've been shuttling around from Baltimore Philadelphia and Gotham for a week and will appreciate a few non-traveling days.

Manager Bob Coleman has nominated Carl Lindquist and Ben Cardoni, both of whom played here for Del Bissonnette last season, for mound duty against the Red Sox. "Buck" Etchison, who was a great favorite with the local fans a year ago, will be at first base.

TO PITCH ROOKIES

The Braves will get a look at Vic Johnson, a loose jointed southpaw and Clem Hausman, up from Kansas City this afternoon. Manager Joe Cronin is anxious to see more of these rookies before the opening of the American League campaign.

Playing in rain and snow the Red Sox managed to get in five rounds with the Bears yesterday at Newark.

Outfielder Chet Ross, 27, has left Buffalo to join the squad and hopes to "get in a couple of months of baseball before the Army calls me."

Since last October he has been working in a war plant, he added, but was "laid off" and now expects his draft classification of 2-B will be changed. He is married and has a 2-year-old daughter.

The Braves went down to their second straight defeat yesterday at Atlantic City where they were nosed out by the New York Yankees,' who got to Nate Andrews for five tallies in the eigthh inning.

Alsab Leaves Miami For Belmont Park

Alsab, winner of $349,815, left Miami last night for Belmont Park. Owner Al Sabath said the bargain colt is in top form, although he was barred from racing in Florida because of a disputed ruling of Hialeah veterinarians.

Rookie Threatens George Case's Mark

George Case's five-year reign as the major leagues' leading base stealer may come to an end this year, according to the Associated Press.

The Washington Senator outfielder had to go at top speed last season to nose out Wally Moses, of the Chicago White Sox, with 61 stolen sacks to Moses' 56. This year George Stirnweiss, of the Yankees, may make it a three-way race.

Stirnweiss swiped only 11 for the world champions last season, but he watched most of the games from the bench. A regular at second base this third wartime season he may approach his record of 73 stolen bases while with Newark of the International League in 1942.

Case, who in the last five years has pilfered 51, 35, 33, 44 and 61 bases, already has stolen four in spring exhibition games. Moses is waiting for the opening of the season next Tuesday before trying out his 1944 wings.

Other major league news:

REDS—"Let them pick the Cards and Cubs," explained Manager Bill McKechnie as the Reds reached Crosley Field. "Somebody's going to be surprised," indicating he thinks the Reds will win the pennant.

PIRATES—"Oh, if Wally Hebert were back with us again," said Manager Frankie Frisch. "Our pitchers don't look too bad, but we could use one or two more."

PHILLIES—Right-hander Dick Barrett or southpaw Al Gerheauser will start opening game against Brooklyn at Shibe Park Tuesday.

TIGERS — Joe Orrell, who worked 20 innings for Tigers last year after purchase from Portland, is expected to make first 1944 start in exhibition against Louisville today.

INDIANS Mickey Rocco has recovered from foot injury. Outfield Recruit Cliff Mapes due for pre-induction exam tomorrow.

DODGERS — Rookie Catcher Mike Ulisney was optioned to New Orleans while Infielder Frank Drews was returned to St. Paul.

ATHLETICS—Arkansas Joe Berry held Toronto Maple Leafs to one hit in four-inning game; now in line for post as top relief pitcher.

GIANTS—Pitcher Harry Feldman left for Ft. Smith, Ark., where his wife suffered a heart attack. He said he did not expect to rejoin club.

CUBS—Paul Derringer and Bill Fleming are down with flu, while Paul Erickson is far behind in training as a result of being struck on cheek by pitched ball.

BROWNS—Mark Christman hopes for more hits like the three-run triple he hit off Mort Cooper, of Cards, yesterday. Pitcher Newman Shirley again rejected in Army physical exam.

WHITE SOX — Johnny Humphries and Orval Grove named to hurl against Cubs on Friday.

CARDINALS—Outfielder Johnny Hopp's homer wasted as Cards lost to Browns.

Hawks, Canadiens In Fourth Contest

MONTREAL, April 12 (AP)—Facing the seemingly impossible task of beating the Montreal Canadiens four straight times in order to win the Stanley cup hockey title, the Chicago Blackhawks arrived today ready for the fourth game of the series tomorrow night. Montreal took the first three games and hopes to make a four-game sweep.

"We ought to be able to get one game back tomorrow," said Coach Paul Thompson of the Hawks. "They aren't good enough to take us four straight."

Jockey Luce Grounded At Bay Meadows

Jockey Sam Luce of Trenton, N. J. was gorunded at Bay Meadows for the balance of the California meeting for what the stewards ruled was interference with another horse in a race on Saturday. The case also was referred to the California horse racing board.

Hancock Reply Due by April 18

The Hancock Associates have been given until April 18 by Judge Daniel T. O'Connor in the equity session of the Suffolk Superior Court to give specifications on their charges against the action of the Racing Commission in refusing to grant them dates for dog racing.

The Racing Commission was represented by Assistant Attorney-General Roger T. Clapp. The latter filed an answer in which he set forth that the Racing Commission has been vested with full discretion in the granting of licenses, and that it acted in good faith in refusing the application of the Hancock Associates.

The Hancock Associates pointed out in their petition that 100 nights of dog racing had been awarded to Wonderland Park in Revere, 50 to the Dighton track and 50 to Raynham, which exhausted the possible dates in Massachusetts.

Atty. Thomas Lavelle, counsel for the Hancock Associates, was not in court today.

Cunningham in Navy

DES MOINES, April 12 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, former outdoor mile champion who has been physical education director at Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Ia., was inducted into the Navy here.
